You don't want to miss Belinda Gore's seven-week virtual course Object Relations and the Enneagram.

"I highly recommend Belinda Gore's Object Relations class for Enneagram Enthusiasts who want to go deeper, especially for anyone interested in teaching the Enneagram or using it in a coaching session. This is an invaluable resource, brilliant synthesis, very useful for relationships and personal growth."

Join me for this powerful seven-week course on how to use Object Relations and the Enneagram to liberate relationship patterns! In this virtual course, I will teach you about the three Primary Objects and the three Dominant Affects as they create a 3 x 3 matrix, identifying the underlying structure of each of the nine Enneagram types. We will use experiential exercises in class, using virtual breakout rooms, to explore how these Objects and Affects show up in your life and how to guide others in their explorations to find greater freedom.

To get the most out of this course, I recommend that you have some knowledge of the Enneagram, through workshops or reading.

"I highly recommend this virtual course! I took it a few months ago and finally feel like I've got a grasp on Object Relation Theory, which is at the basis for SO many of our patterns in relationships. Belinda Gore is a skilled and sensitive facilitator who really knows her stuff."
